

The Rekerro Camp

Rekerro situated in the midst of the Mara Serengeti Ecosystem, home not only to the Beaton Family but also to the greatest concentration and diversity of wildlife in the world.

The Beaton family arrived in Africa in 1889, pioneering Kenya's conservation movement in 1946. The conservation tradition continues today at Rekerro where we offer old time hospitality and a unique insight into the Masai Mara's wildlife, cultures, flora and fauna.

Wildlife viewing can be done on foot with experienced Masai and Il Dorobo guides, or in our custom four wheel drive vehicles which allow intimate yet unobtrusive access to the animals.

Rekerro Camp

Amidst the teeming mass of wildlife in the Masai Mara area, Rekerro's tented camp is currently inside the Masai Mara Game reserve, very close to the confluence of the Mara and Talek rivers. This mobile camp is ideally situated for the annual migration, which is the movement of over one million wildebeest and two hundred thousand zebra from the Serengeti through the Masai Mara in Kenya.

The Camp is set up seasonally (June - October, December - March) and caters for up to fourteen guests. Gerard and Rainee Beaton along with their partner Jackson Ole Looseyia own and host this unique camp. Their team of professional Masai safari guides and camp crew have worked together for years, providing guests with an in depth and truly memorable Masai Mara experience.
