

Saxon

Nestled in the exclusive Sandhurst suburb of Sandton, Saxon makes a world class statement of ethnic African elegance, combined with personalized attention to detail. Saxon has always been a place of welcome. With its roots in the heart of Gauteng, it has drawn the warmth of the city that bred it - from the world it has won its refinement and ease. The welcoming entrance with stately staircase sweeps around a central glass dome, permitting natural light to blend with and enhance the contemporary African decor and handcrafted ethnic art effects. Leading off this area is a boutique shop, piano lounge, smoking library and the dining room. Set in six acres of lush landscape gardens, Saxon has been designed to capture and embrace its natural environment.

Saxon boasts twenty-six suites of various sizes. All suites incorporate a strong element of African art, latticed shutters covering large bay windows, looking onto the tranquil gardens or pool area. Each suite features large screen televisions, VCR and DVD player with surrounding sound systems.

Workstations fitted with multi telephone and fax lines, provide each guest an incomparable experience in business-orientated hospitality. The four presidential suites feature a separate lounge and dining area. The spectacular Mandela and Mbeki platinum suites consist of 500 square metres of unadulterated luxury. There are two bedrooms, each with an en-suite bathroom, a reception area, lounge, dining room, bar and butler's kitchen with a private elevator - a set up worthy of the most discerning traveler.

The lattice shuttered suites, cool terraces and shaded gazebos adjoining both the heated lap pool and magnificent 920 square metre swimming pool, enhance the fully supervised gymnasium, steam rooms and Clarins beauty salon. A combination of lymphatic, Swedish and Shiatzu massage disciplines are available together with a health menu to suite all jaded palates. The ambience of the dining room offers a homely atmosphere, boasting an exclusive and unique wine display. The cocktail bar leads off the expansive pool terrace, koi pond and outdoor heated pool. For conferences, Saxon offers two boardrooms seating 5-12 delegates, one larger convention room accommodating up to 30 delegates. A soundproof auditorium with state of the art built in communication technology featuring VHS, DVD, XGA data (1024 X 768), laserdisc and microphone, and a cocktail lounge for up to 60 people completes the conferencing picture.
